Governor Will Ask Special Session on School Matter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair announced today he will ask a special legislative session next year to submit a constitutional amendment increasing the limit on bonds voted by school districts.

The governor revealed his plan in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Missouri Teachers' Assn.

Meat Strike Agreement Is Reached

Supermarkets Rush To Restock Shelves When Pickets Leave

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Negotiators reached an agreement early today in a 14-day butchers strike and supermarkets rushed to restock depleted shelves.

The strike had closed upwards of two-thirds of the major supermarkets in the Kansas City metropolitan area. The pickets were removed and union retail clerks and truck drivers began going back to work.

Striking meat cutters will vote on the agreement today. Union negotiators said they would recommend acceptance.

At the peak of the strike about 75 per cent of the A&P, Kroger, Safeway and Milgram stores were closed.

"We are not in a position at this time to reveal the contents of the agreement," said Marvin Hook of Chicago, a vice president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers Union.

He called the members of Local 576 to a meeting at noon to vote on the proposal.

Between 800 and 1,000 butchers are involved in the strike. Major chain stores have kept some stores open with supervisory employees but others were closed down when union deliveries refused to cross picket lines. Neighborhood stores have had a booming business and housewives have not had too much trouble getting food.

The union launched its strike with a unique demand that a store's payroll for butchers should equal 8 1/2 per cent of its gross receipts for meat.

Carl H. Nothnagel, executive secretary of the local, complained there had been a heavy increase in the work required of butchers at supermarkets since they were moved into back rooms to cut and package meat for sale at self-service counters.

Negotiators for the grocerymen called the union's demand an attempt to limit the work load and said they could not agree to it.

Former Secretary Of Agriculture Says Farmer's Share Less

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Charles F. Brannan, former U. S. secretary of agriculture, said yesterday "the farmer's slice of the economic pie gets thinner and thinner."

Brannan spoke at a program development conference of the Indiana Farmers Union at Purdue University. He served in the cabinet during the Truman administration.

The former secretary described the farm situation as "roughly comparable to the 1920s, when the farm declined preceded a general depression by almost 10 years."

Parisian Astronomer Thinks Reds Goofed On an Early Sputnik

PARIS (AP)—A Parisian astronomer said last night the Russians may have misfired one of their Sputniks in mid-August.

Paul Couderc of the Paris Observatory told a capacity audience that the Haute Provence Observatory in southeastern France noted a "bizarre object" in the sky the night of Aug. 19 going toward the Mediterranean.

"We now believe it was without doubt an abortive attempt at launching a satellite," Couderc said.

Security Council Session

Says No Relationship Between the Meeting And Ike's Address

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower held a second expanded National Security Council session today. He called in the greatest attendance of outside experts ever brought into one of these top policy-making meetings.

Mrs. Anne Wheaton, acting White House press secretary, said there was no direct relationship between the meeting and Eisenhower's address tonight on science and security.

The speech from 8 to 8:30 p. m. EST (7:30 p. m. CST) is to be the first of a series of presidential addresses designed to reassure the nation about its scientific progress and security.

The series is on an accelerated schedule with this first one moved up six days ahead of the original plan.

While the specific purpose of the Security Council session was not disclosed, Mrs. Wheaton told reporters that "Yes, I would say it is connected with all developments of the last week or ten days." That would take in the period of the launching of Sputnik II by Soviet Russia.

All told, some 45 persons gathered at the White House for the NSC meeting. Mrs. Wheaton said she thought it was the largest Security Council session ever held. It was too big for the usual session in the Cabinet room and was shifted to the broadcasting room in the basement of the White House proper.

The NSC has five members by law—the President, the vice president, the secretaries of state and defense and the director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Customarily, other top officials from the White House and executive agencies also are brought in, so that some 25 persons are present.

Added to the list today were the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the chiefs of staff of the military services, plus members and advisers to the Science Advisory Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Missouri's average state aid per pupil last year was $96, he said, while the national average was $122.

Missile Plant Posted as Bond In $24 Case

MORRISON, Colo. (AP)—The multimillion-dollar Martin Co. guided missile plant in Colorado has been posted as bond for a company employee appealing a $24 traffic fine. Justice of the Peace William Sawyer said yesterday he accepted the plant as a property bond to free John M. Gradoz, a laborer.

The plant, south of this Denver suburb, was put up by Raymond J. Turner, attorney who defended Gradoz on the traffic charges. Turner is a member of a Denver law firm which represents the Martin Co. in Colorado.

Gradoz was convicted Oct. 31 on state patrol charges of careless driving and driving without a chauffeur's license.

Turner said Gradoz was driving a Martin Co. truck that slid off a highway leading to the plant and overturned Oct. 22.

Sawyer fined Gradoz $20 and $4 costs. He said twice that amount in bond is required in order to appeal.

Turner said the justice refused to accept $48 in cash, saying an appeal bond must be in real property located in the county or posted by a professional bondsman.

Uneventful Evening

No Evidence Shows Of Red Trip To Moon

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Soviets celebrated their 40th revolution anniversary last night with another fabulous space venture, there is no sign it was a trip to the moon.

This was the word this morning from the U. S. Naval Observatory, where scientists kept an especially close watch through last night.

"We had the moon under observation all night," said Cmdr. W. M. Robinson, acting superintendent of the observatory. "Nothing showed up on it."

Actually the American astronomers had their scopes trained on the moon anyway in connection with studies relating to the multi-nation International Geophysical Year program. Last night being full moon and particularly clear, Robinson said, the scientists had a busy time with their regular program.

The Russians themselves have given no indication of immediate plans to reach the moon, some 235,000 miles away. But with the Reds pouring out one scientific achievement after another, the naval moonwatchers kept a sharp lookout—just in case.

Meanwhile, Russia's flying doghouse, Sputnik II, made a spectacular sweep across the United States before sunrise today.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., got reports of sightings throughout the country.

Sputnik II's brightness changed every few seconds until at times it was almost as dim as a faint star. This is because the rocket-shaped satellite is tumbling. It was brightest when its broadside reflected the light of the early morning sun.

Yesterday a number of sightings were reported from widely scattered places throughout the country.

Sputnik II's orbit carries the half-ton vehicle and its dog passenger about 1,000 miles into space at its farthest point. Scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., said the second Russian satellite will be at an altitude of about 140 miles when it passes over the United States.

Russians May Be Attempting To Eject Chamber With Dog

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Russia's new satellite may come apart in space, scientists said today, on the basis of admittedly sketchy reports.

While Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory director, said he had no confirmation of reports that Sputnik II may be coming apart, he said that such a development was quite possible.

Andrew B. Ledwith, the observatory's radio technician, reported today that the radio tone of the satellite on the 20-megacycle band seemed to be spread out in time, as though coming possibly from two separate radio-equipped objects.

Earlier reports received from Chicago and Tokyo indicated some object might be preceding the dog-carrying satellite.

If the rocket satellite had separated into two sections, with one portion falling lower, the other nearer the earth would appear to be well ahead of the main rocket because of moving into a smaller orbit and thus completing the orbit sooner.

There has been speculation that the Russians might attempt to eject the chamber carrying the dog, Laika, from the main rocket—possibly on Nov. 7.

The dog-carrying satellite was sighted by thousands of early risers as it orbited across the United States three times before sunrise today.

Its color description ranged from bluish-white at a New York airport to a ruddy hue elsewhere. A Moonwatch team in Bryn Athyn, Pa., reported that Sputnik II appeared to flash red as it swept past. The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge received 22 official sighting reports, ranging from Cambridge in the East to Spokane, Wash., and Los Angeles on the West Coast.

In addition, 30 Moonwatch teams in Japan cabled data to the Smithsonian scientists to aid in tracking the orbit of the satellite. Sightings also were reported from Manchester and New Haven, Conn.; Schenectady, N.Y.; Washington, D.C.; Chambersburg, Pa. (where Sputnik II was reported "elongated and pinkish" under binoculars); State College, Pa.; New York City, Baltimore, Harrisburg, Pa.; Dover, N.J. (where Moonwatchers reported the second passage at approximately 6:59 a. m. EST) Idaho Falls, Idaho, (the first station to report the satellite's third and last visible sweep across the country this morning at 8:39 a. m. EST).

There was great confusion among the 400 delegates and observers as delegation after delegation straggled out.

The vote was taken by secret ballot near the close of the final day of the conference of supreme policy making body of Red Cross societies around the world. The meeting opened Oct. 28.

Immediately after vote was announced the Communist Chinese spokesman took the rostrum and accused the United States of what he called contemptible action designed to create two Chinas.

Free Overtime Is Ordered By the Kremlin

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Tens of millions of persons in Russia's European satellites were required by their Communist rulers to celebrate Moscow's 40th jubilee anniversary with overtime work today.

Extra work shifts without extra pay were the rule. People also were required to decorate their homes with Soviet flags and listen to Communist orators.

In Hungary, the people were forbidden to observe the anniversary of their own revolt last Oct. 23 or to put out flags, but were required to display Soviet flags today.

In Prague, the Communist chiefs lighted up the massive Stalin Memorial overlooking the Czechoslovak city and decorated the graves of Soviet soldiers.

Austria made its contribution to the anniversary by beginning the razing of a red plaster, 50-foot high obelisk erected by the Russians in 1945 as a memorial to liberation of the city from Nazi rule.

Austria's postwar treaty with the Allies requires her to preserve their war memorials here, but officials got around this by agreeing to put up an inscribed metal plate in place of the decaying obelisk.

Clerk's Mistake Ends Murder Case Trial

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A murder case ended in a mistrial in suburban Clayton when a court clerk handed the notes of Circuit Judge Franklin Ferriss to the jury by mistake.

The jury had deliberated two hours in the case of Herschel O. Courtney, 31, a carpenter charged with second-degree murder in the shooting of his wife two years ago.

After the jury went to dinner, the court clerk handed it a document he thought contained the judge's formal instructions.

It proved to be the judge's notes. He declared a mistrial.

Move Toward Solid Fuels

Military Scientists Pressing Search for New Missile Fuels

WASHINGTON (AP)—American military scientists are pressing broad research in a quest for new or improved fuels to power big missiles and satellites.

But any bid in the near future to recapture the lead which Russia has taken in rocketry probably will be made with existing, tested types of power.

A Russian broadcast claimed the use of "improved new instruments and sources of power" in the launching of Sputnik II last weekend, but the broadcast gave no details.

At present, fuel for the large missile and for the primary engines of planned satellite launchers are liquid—a combination of forms of hydrocarbons (which burn) and an oxidizer (usually liquid oxygen called "lox") which enable them to burn at altitudes where there is little or no natural oxygen to support combustion.

These liquid fuels have disadvantages. Their use requires a maze of plumbing in rocket engines; liquid fuel is heavy for the amount of energy it yields; it is difficult and dangerous to handle. There is a tendency toward solid fuels.

William M. Holaday, special defense assistant for guided missiles, said recently that the performance of solid propellants have been improved "to the point where they are nearing that of liquid propellants now used in current large liquid rockets."

He made those remarks at an address dedicating a rocket engine plant built by the Thiokol Chemical Corp. at Birmingham City, Utah. That plant, he commented, includes a chamber for testing rockets producing two million pounds of thrust. Holaday did not say that such rockets, using either liquid or solid fuel, are in existence now, but cited it as an example of goals in rocket development.

The trade publication Aviation Daily reports that the largest United States design, intended for the Titan ICBM, is of 300,000 pounds thrust. In contrast, Russia is described as having tested a rocket delivering 820,000 pounds, probably intended for use in the Soviet T-3 ICBM.

In the search for better fuels, one path has led toward the use of elements to boost the heat energy content of conventional carbons—as additives are used in automobile gasoline.

The magazine Missile and Rockets, does not appear to share Holaday's view that the use of solid fuel for big rocket engines is close. It suggests that such fuel for operational use of intermediate range ballistic missiles may be about five years away.

Farmers and cattlemen in Panama do not have pockets in their trousers. To carry spare change, they have a "chacara," a crocheted bag slung over one shoulder.

Textile Union Meets AFL-CIO Cleanup Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany says cleanup action by the 44,000-member United Textile Workers Union means the UTW qualifies for continued membership in the merged labor organization.

The UTW was one of three unions the AFL-CIO Executive Council charged with corruption last month. The others were the Teamsters and Bakers unions.

Two top officials of the UTW since have resigned. They are Anthony Valente, president, and Lloyd Klenert, secretary-treasurer. Among AFL-CIO charges against Valente and Klenert was that they used $57,000 of union money to make down payments on homes.

The UTW, an AFL union before the labor merger, is not to be confused with the larger Textile Workers Union of America, a former CIO affiliate.

After conferring yesterday with seven international officers of the UTW, Meany told newsmen: "If this board (the seven officers) says it will meet all instructions, we'll trust them. I believe they are still trade unionists."

He said the UTW has agreed to hire a new accountant and put in a new accounting system.

Plane Engine Failures Give Headache

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica. (AP)—Two Navy planes and 20 men were stranded at outlying U. S. antarctic stations today by engine failures. The Air Force command ordered an investigation of troubles plaguing his aircraft.

A Navy version of the two-engine DC3 lost the use of one engine yesterday while carrying spare parts to a Navy Neptune patrol bomber stranded at the South Pole.

Cmdr. Edward T. Frankiewicz of Rutland, Vt., ordered the spare parts jettisoned and the DC3 labored 45 miles to an emergency landing at a three-man station on the Beardmore Glacier about halfway between McMurdo and the South Pole. Ten men aboard the DC3 are now crowded into the station.

The Navy indicated both the DC3 and the two-engine Neptune will need replacements of their engines.

The Neptune was carrying 10 persons on a flight to deliver five other men to the South Pole. One engine went bad during a landing there Oct. 26.

The Air Force continued to have trouble with its four-engine Globemasters, the backbone of U. S. aerial supply in Antarctica. Lt.

Present MacArthur With New Army Flag

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been presented with the new United States Army flag.

The flag, officially adopted by the Army last year, was presented to MacArthur yesterday by Secretary of the Army Brucker. Former President Herbert Hoover was a guest.

The flag has 145 battle streamers commemorating campaigns from Ticonderoga to Korea.

Col. Dixon J. Arnold of San Angelo, Tex., called for a check on Globemaster engine generators.

Arnold said generator trouble had caused seven of 10 engine failures on Globemasters during 35 days of operations.

One of a Globemaster's engines quit yesterday as the plane headed from McMurdo to Byrd Station with a drop load. The plane had to turn back without completing the mission.

Farmer Cuts Off Own Arm When He Fails To Attract Any Help

TRENTON, Mo. (AP)—Gilbert McCulley, 49, used a pocket knife to cut off his left hand when it was caught in a mechanical corn picker.

McCulley, working alone on his farm near Galt, Mo., said he shouted for help for 30 minutes before resorting to the knife.

He then unhooked his tractor and drove three-quarters of a mile to his house. A daughter called a

Soviet Parades New Weapons, Celebrates 40th Anniversary

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union celebrated its 40th anniversary today with a parade through Red Square of new weapons to give its armed forces greater mobility and more rocket power.

In a swift march past leaders of the Communist world, the annual Nov. 7 parade showed new heavy armor including a pair of long distance missiles, one of an estimated 70-foot length.

Foreign observers in the reviewing stands estimated that most of the 36 major rockets shown in various sizes and types were tactical rather than strategic weapons, designed for direct support of ground troops.

In his first public appearance since he replaced Marshal Georgi Zhukov as defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky made the speech of the day attacking the United States and assuring the Russians could meet any attack.

Standing atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb, where Zhukov had reviewed the last five military parades, Malinovsky asserted: "Aggressive foreign circles, notably in the U. S. A., pursue a policy aimed at increasing international tension, preventing disarmament and threatening mankind with the dangers of atomic war."

The Soviet people, he declared, "ardently desire peace," but "the Soviet armed forces are capable of crushing any aggressor should he attack our country."

Heavy clouds prevented the usual flypast of new Soviet planes. But in front of the Kremlin, rockets dominated the packed crowd's attention.

The parade of missiles started slowly with a show of conventional multiple-rocket launchers for battlefield use. Then came larger mobile rocket launchers mounted on tank chassis—some of them amphibious. Finally came a group of launchers capable of handling up to 12-inch missiles in nests of half a dozen each.

For the first time, the various launchers were shown this year with rockets in place.

Students Get Holiday While Teachers Attend Meeting

With the teachers of the Sedalia school system traveling to St. Louis Thursday and Friday of this week for the annual teachers meeting, Smith-Cotton is enjoying a two day holiday.

Wednesday morning the senior high students got a look at Mr. Blair's major dramatic production for this year, the well-known story of "Little Women." A cut was presented from the first act, and the general opinion concerning the production is that it was well done, and the story was very humorous. The complete drama will be presented on the night of Nov. 24 in the school auditorium. Also on this assembly program were two readings performed by members of the dramatics department. Linda Bunn gave a dramatic reading dealing with the subject of high school social life, and David Leebetter gave a humorous reading based on the story of "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

Woman's Day Observed At Taylor Chapel

Woman's Day was observed Sunday at the Taylor Methodist Chapel, Ottumwa. Mrs. Blanch Black of Sedalia was guest speaker at the morning service. Rev. F. L. Cole was afternoon speaker. Music for both services was furnished by the Gospel Choir from Taylor Chapel in Sedalia and the Prairie Grove Baptist Church in Tipton. The Rev. J. E. Gilliam is pastor. A contributive dinner was enjoyed at noon.

Rain and Snow Storm Isolates Residents

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A five-day storm of rain and snow caused streams and rivers to overflow and isolate many residents of the desolate east-central Utah area some 180 miles from here.

There are no telephone lines to the area. It was not possible to get reliable reports, but an estimated 200 persons were cut off by overflowing rivers washing out roads. Hardest hit was Hanksville, population 80.

The flooding, which started Monday, was expected to ease today.

Reports Ike

Is Considering

Big Space Ship

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that President Eisenhower is actively considering a plan to launch a space ship bigger than Russia's Sputnik II by using big military rockets.

The New York Daily News, in a special dispatch from Washington, carried a similar story.

The Tribune's Washington story, quoting unnamed officials, said the earth satellite could be fired off within four months. It could circle the earth at a height averaging 600 miles, the newspaper stated, and carry mice, guinea pigs or monkeys or other animals to provide information for scientists.

The plan, the Tribune said, was reported to be the most attractive and most immediately attainable of more than a dozen proposals being studied by the Pentagon for submission to the President.

The newspaper said a top Pentagon official, unidentified, estimated that if all the "feasible" proposals were undertaken the total cost would not exceed 275 million dollars.

The White House staff and budget experts are examining the cost, international implications and possible harmful effect the project would have on the nation's rocket program, the story said.

Pentagon officials would not comment on the story, the Tribune said, but other sources, unnamed, were quoted as saying they would not be surprised if Eisenhower decides that "if the Russians want to make a race of it we're in it."

Cooked beets have a tendency to "bleed" so they should be added carefully to a salad.

Meet on Asia Starts First Full Session

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a sense of urgency, America's largest conference on Asia plunged into its first full day's session today.

"A tidal wave" of nationalism is sweeping the peoples of the East, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter told the 1,500 delegates last night at the opening session of the sixth National Conference of UNESCO.

Speaking in the same gilt War Memorial Opera House where the United Nations was created 12 years ago, Herter told in urgent terms of his recent trip to Asia where he saw the Federation of Malaya born as a sovereign nation. He noted there had been 10 such sovereign births in the Orient since World War II.

"It would be a dull person indeed who would not conclude that a drive for freedom and self-determination has swept the perimeter of Asia with the force of a tidal wave," he said.

"But I was more deeply impressed with a feeling of matching intensity that I encountered in many places. This was the realization that illiteracy, sickness, misery and the other tragic components of a sub-marginal existence were not for them, or for anyone, a necessary condition of life."

Noting that America's amalgam of cultures comes mostly from the West, Herter declared:

"I think it is time we turned east toward Asia to listen and to learn. The delegates attending this conference have a rare opportunity to set a pattern which can be adopted from here, at the Pacific gateway, all the way to my home city of Boston."

Learning from Asia, Herter said, was one of the "new dimensions in diplomacy" which he discussed. He called for mutual realization among all peoples that they are dependent on one another.

Shanley Announces Candidacy for GOP Nomination for Senate

BERNARDSVILLE, N.J. (AP)—Bernard M. Shanley announced today his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

The seat to which Shanley aspires is now held by New Jersey Republican Sen. H. Alexander Smith, who will be 78 in January.

The 54-year-old lawyer, who resigned yesterday as appointments secretary to President Eisenhower, said in a statement from his home that the Republican party must win in the 1958 congressional election to back the national administration and must win at the local level to strengthen the GOP.

The Tribune's Washington story, quoting unnamed officials, said the earth satellite could be fired off within four months. It could circle the earth at a height averaging 600 miles, the newspaper stated, and carry mice, guinea pigs or monkeys or other animals to provide information for scientists.

Tuesday was a bad day for a Sedalia motor car driver as he wound up in the Johnson County jail at Warrensburg charged with taking gasoline valued at $2 and with careless and reckless driving after being chased through Knob Noster at speeds which were reportedly in excess of 100 miles an hour at times.

The driver, Wayne Leon Balance, Sedalia, is being held in the county jail after failing to post $250 bond on the petit larceny charge and $125 bond on the careless and reckless driving charge. Appearance date has been set for Nov. 12 in magistrate court.

Deputy Sheriff Robert D. Williams, Johnson County, said he caught Balance on the east side of Knob Noster after a chase through Knob Noster at 95 miles an hour, including a dangerous S-shaped curve in Knob Noster, and reaching 115-miles an hour before Balance stopped his 1957 Ford sedan.

Balance is charged with obtaining $2 worth of gasoline at the Wilson's Sinclair service station at the junction of Highways 13 and 50 and leaving without paying for it.

Deputy Sheriff Williams said he was in the Knob Noster city police station when he heard that Balance was heading toward Knob Noster. He had just finished working on an accident east of Warrensburg and was on his way home in Knob Noster.

Sutherland was sentenced to jail on Oct. 8 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny in stealing a .22-caliber pistol from the home of Emma Briscoe, Negro, north of Knob Noster on Oct. 3.

UCLA Relates Work in Study Of Fallout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA, celebrating the 10th anniversary of its atomic energy project, has described the work of a crack "desert legion" which made intensive studies of fallout from the Nevada nuclear tests.

One of the findings is that there appears to be little basis for fear that the fallout has poisoned food to a dangerous degree.

Dr. Stafford L. Warren, project director, reported yesterday that the team of 170 persons used jeeps and low-flying planes to track the fallout downwind from ground zero and study its effect on air, soil, plants and animals.

The study revealed, he said, that fallout from the detonations has been contained in narrow patterns. This is believed to have been brought about by many variables such as terrain, weather conditions, type of bomb and height of burst.

It has also been found, he said, that in undisturbed areas radioactive residues were confined to the top inch or two of soil, even at a place where an atomic bomb was set off 12 years ago.

Blair Orders Seizure Of Kansas City Buses

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Public Service Co.'s buses were running as usual today with the state of Missouri in control of the utility.

Gov. James T. Blair ordered seizure of the firm last night to avert a strike of bus drivers. The drivers have demanded a wage increase of 15 cents an hour spread over two years and the company has offered 12 cents. The rate now is 1.97 an hour.

This is the second time in seven years the state has seized the firm under a public utility anti-strike law. The state controlled the company 7 1/2 months during a wage dispute in 1950.

Science Work Yearly Cost Is 10 Billion

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. government and industry today are spending at a 10-billion-dollar-a-year clip for scientific research and development.

Sputnik seems likely to inspire a rocket like climb in that figure next year, especially in the government's share, which is now about one third.

President Eisenhower will speak to the nation tonight on the role of science and research in national security.

The government is doing more than half of the spending on basic research—the pure science from which Sputnik was developed as the most publicized result of the present International Geophysical Year.

Warnings some time back that the Russians were pulling ahead in pure science research brought a reply from some quarters that the question was whether America's scientific security race with the Soviets was a marathon or a sprint.

Industry is putting some 4 to 5 per cent of its 7 billion dollars a year spending into basic science studies. For example, the University of Chicago gets about 1 1/2 million dollars a year from corporations for basic research problems and is conducting some 1,000 of them in 500 laboratories. The bulk of industrial spending goes for applied research and product development.

Government and private researchers often benefit jointly. For example, early studies in commercial aircraft helped develop military craft. The upcoming commercial jet airliners owe much to government research that produced the jet military bombers and transports.

Some government officials estimate that only 5 to 10 per cent of total government research spending is for basic science.

But the National Science Foundation says that the Defense Department finds basic science hard to define. The foundation divides total government research spending into 60 per cent on development—from missiles to livestock feed—and 40 per cent on basic science and application of it to specific objectives.

The Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission spend 85 per cent of the federal research dollar.

The war gave research its big boost. Before World War II federal and private spending was at a one billion dollar a year pace, compared with today's 10 billion. In recent years some of the increase is due to higher costs.

Today's highly complicated military and civilian products doubtless call for much more expensive research. Remember there's often a time lag of seven years before the start of research and the large scale production of the resultant product.

Sputnik's successors can circle the world many times in seven years.

Ike Hurries To the 'Mike' This Evening

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is hurrying to the microphone tonight with reassurances to the nation about its scientific progress and security.

The first of a series of presidential speeches designed to rebuild a public confidence undermined by Soviet sorties into space will be delivered from the White House via radio and television from 8 to 8:30 p. m. (EST)—six days ahead of the original schedule.

Although White House officials talked down the idea of any cause and effect connection, the speed-up in the Eisenhower speaking program followed a special Cabinet meeting yesterday and an announcement by Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas of plans for a "searching inquiry" into the whole missile and satellite programs.

Tonight's address also was timed, at least to some degree on purpose, to coincide with Russia's observance today of the 40th anniversary of the Red revolution.

Eisenhower's speech will be carried live by all national radio networks and the CBS television network. It will be carried on film by ABC-TV at 10:30 p. m. (EST) and by NBC-TV at 11:15.

Eisenhower announced more than a fortnight ago that he intended to strike out around the country and make a series of speeches to bolster national confidence in America's scientific progress, national defense, economic strength and the foreign policy.

It was announced that the first address would be made in Oklahoma City Nov. 13. But suddenly the initial speech was rescheduled for Washington tonight. The President still plans to fly to Oklahoma and make one of the series of addresses there.

Ten first-term House Republicans urged Eisenhower in a telegram last night to tell the nation exactly where it stands, "regardless of how serious or unpleasant these facts may be."

They said "we cannot overstate the intense feeling expressed to us" by constituents they said are concerned over Russia's achievements in space.

Baptists Will Hold Special Meet Dec. 2

"It's time to mobilize for kingdom service," according to Mrs. Albert Smith, Harmony Association Training Union director.

Dec. 2 has been set as "M" Night, or Mobilization Night, for 30,334 Southern Baptist churches in 1,071 associations, as announced by R. Maines Rawls, director of associational work in the Training Union Department, Baptist Sunday School board, Nashville, Tenn.

Harmony Baptist Association will observe "M" Night on Dec. 2, at the First Baptist Church in Sedalia, when 24 churches will participate. Local Baptists who will assist in program plans are: Mrs. Albert Smith, associational Training Union director; Rev. R. D. Alsip, assistant director; Mrs. George E. Williams, chorister; Mrs. Leon Parsons, pianist; Rev. Gilbert Hulme, associational minister of music; Rev. Leon Parsons, pastor-advisor; Mrs. Harold Lane, secretary-treasurer; Rev. Charles Tucker, associational missionary; and Mrs. Charles Tucker, adult leader.

The biggest meeting of its kind in the Southern Baptist Convention, this year's attendance goal is set at 450,000. Harmony Association's goal is 650, Mrs. Smith said.

This special night was begun in 1945 with the promotion of a large simultaneous Baptist associational mass meeting on April 24. In 1946, it was decided to designate December for "M" Night observance and to make it the regular mass meeting for the quarter for launching the Training Union program for the coming year.

This special mass meeting has attracted the attention of many people, inside and outside the Southern Baptist Convention. Many associations have been unable to find a church large enough to accommodate the huge crowds that attend. Some have even found it impossible to find a school or municipal auditorium large enough and have had to conduct several simultaneous "M" Night gatherings within the association.

Beginning in 1945 with 522 associations reporting an attendance of 110,269 from 3,985 churches represented, the attendance at "M" Night meetings has steadily grown. In 1956, 965 associations reported; 17,798 churches were represented; and the attendance reached an all-time high of 438,609. A significant feature of this large attendance is the number of associations that conduct the meeting and the many churches represented at "M" Night.

Weekend Snowstorms Trap Nevada Hunters

PIECHE, Nev. (AP)—Weekend snow storms trapped at least 40 hunters in the rugged terrain of Eastern Nevada. These 40 were counted safe but Highway Patrolman Duke Hill of Pioche says there's no telling how many may still be marooned.

Some of the 40 walked out of snowed-in canyons and mountains. Others were found by hunting parties on foot, or in Air Force helicopters or bulldozers.

A three-foot snowfall Saturday is what did it. Snow continued to fall yesterday.

The Short Work Week...

The Russian missile program cannot be brushed off as merely an experimental plaything. The results may bring great benefits to mankind—and great disaster if developed by this one great power without balance through the skill and productivity of our own people.

There is the science of astrology which treats of the influence of stars upon human affairs and of the foretelling of terrestrial events. Perhaps the sputniks, like the stars, foretell the need of America to get busy with its skills and productivity to catch up with the Russians.

This brings up the current talk about shorter work weeks, one of the big Walter Reuther goals in 1958 labor negotiations. But Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, a man organized labor knows to be its friend, thinks the four-day week or anything comparable is a long way off.

Mitchell's reasoning is plain. He says, to begin with, that the shorter work week can't be imposed upon the economy until, as a matter of natural economic evolution, we are ready for it.

That means we have to be able to turn out all the goods we need in the shorter work period, which calls for greater productivity—more output per man. Mitchell, though no business pessimist, does not believe we have attained the technical level required for a four-day work week.

Nikita Khrushchev taunts us on the Red anniversary that America lags the Russians in fields of industry and agriculture as well as in science and engineering. The sputniks beep affirmatively.

Surely we do not want to follow the Red methods of ten hour days and six day weeks. We don't need to. But we should become more conscious of productivity, something about which Mr. Reuther hasn't shown too much concern. As a labor politician, he is dedicated to holding union support by offering attractive new package proposals at each contract time.

As Bruce Biosatt, editorial writer points out: "With the so-called guaranteed annual wage battle more or less won, he must move on to new things. The shorter work week is a spectacular goal."

"Mitchell, a clear-headed analyst in the labor field, thinks the unions should be directing their efforts elsewhere, toward getting bigger pay differentials for skilled workmen."

We already have a shortage of skilled craftsmen in America. If they drew more pay, more people would be attracted to the various fields and undertake the necessary training. As it is, the lure is small. It is hard to see, too, how a shorter work week—putting skilled men at home three days a week—would help the situation.

"America's growing labor force needs thoughtful leadership bent upon serving its legitimate needs in an era of swift change. What it can do without is the kind of irresponsible leadership that simply dangles bigger bunches of bigger carrots in front of the workers each time major negotiations come up."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Supported In Firing MacArthur

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES—Harry Truman bounced all over Los Angeles just at the time the Republicans pulled what the Democrats called their "Khrushchev purge of Zhukov act"—in other words, their purge of Gov. Goodwin Knight. He went out to Disneyland to get a little practice in being a grandfather even though it will be many months before his Dennis gets out of diapers. And he spent some time advising fellow Democrats how to win the next election.

To a very select group of friends he even discussed the Little Rock crisis and the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"I called in two men before I fired MacArthur—Dean Acheson and Gen. George Marshall—and asked their advice," he said. "Dean Acheson said MacArthur should have been fired long ago."

But Marshall said: "You should fire him, but he's got millions of friends. There would be a very bad public reaction."

"So I told Marshall: 'George, you go out between now and tomorrow afternoon and talk to people—all kinds of people. And you come back here tomorrow afternoon and tell me what you think.'"

The next day, Truman said, General Marshall came back and reported: "Mr. President, you should have fired him long before this. The people will support you."

Musing about the aftermaths of his firing of General MacArthur, Truman continued, "I don't pretend to be as great, but two other presidents faced the same problem with generals of the Army."

"There was Abraham Lincoln who had to fire three generals; and there was McKinley who had to fire an officer during the Spanish-American War. He was very popular, but McKinley fired him anyway."

"He had to, if he was going to keep the respect of the nation."

Lesson in Politics

Pat Brown, California attorney general who is running for governor against Sen. Bill Knowland, Republican, asked Truman whether he knew Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas.

"I know him, and I've thought highly of him," replied the former president, "but someone sold him a wrong bill of goods. If the same thing had happened while I was in the White House, I would have stopped it like this."

He snapped his fingers.

When Brown asked Truman for advice on running his campaign for governor, Truman delivered a lecture on politics which would have been a lesson for any candidate, whether for city commissioners or vice-president.

"You've got to conduct this campaign," he said, referring to the race for governor of California, "as if it was a presidential campaign. No state today is more vital than California. We've got to win."

Truman then advised Brown to get organized right down to the precinct workers. "Make sure you have clerks at every poll," he added. "Don't let 'em steal any votes away from him."

"And never mention your opponent's name," he cautioned. "That just gives him publicity. Attack what he stands for, but don't mention him by name."

Brown said one of the first things he intended to do was invite Mr. Truman to come out and tour the state with him in 1958. Some observers claim that Truman did little speaking for Adlai Stevenson because Stevenson didn't ask him.

"I'm going to consider you my chief campaign manager," Brown told him.

Knowland's Trump Cards

Bill Knowland has a couple of trump cards up his sleeve in his race for governor of California and beyond it to the White House—if he makes the first hurdle. One is that he has an arrangement with Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas to take his rackets committee out to California for a full-dress probe of west coast labor.

Knowland has been the "right to work" bill which Governor Knight has opposed. In his race for governor, therefore, the vote is expected to go for the Democrat, Pat Brown, and against Knowland.

However, Knowland will play down his former advocacy of the right-to-work bill and will campaign on an issue of "democracy in labor unions." He will advocate the right of labor to elect their own leaders, and will demand protection for welfare funds. This is generally popular with labor and should win even Knowland some labor votes.

The California attorney general's office is taking a look at the Knight withdrawal in favor of Senator Knowland to see if any "pecuniary or other consideration" was involved. If so, it might be illegal.

The most immediate similar withdrawal was that when Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley of New York got out of the race for governor in favor of Tom Dewey in 1950 after Dewey earlier had decided not to run.

The Hanley withdrawal came after a meeting in the office of Winthrop Aldrich, then head of the Chase National Bank, attended by Frank Gannett, the upstate New York publisher; Roy Howard, the Scripps-Howard publisher; Carl Hallauer of Bosch and Lomb plus various Wall Street moguls. They wanted Hanley out of the race, Dewey in.

Hanley, like Goodwin Knight, did not withdraw gracefully. But, as with California bankers and Knight, Banker Aldrich in New York made it clear to Joe Hanley that if he did not get out of the race there would be no campaign funds. Aldrich was chairman of the finance committee of New York Republicans, and had collected about $2,000,000 in recent campaigns.

Finally a deal was made whereby Hanley was promised a $15,000 salary on the New York Thruway Commission, plus a job as executive of one of the Rockefeller oil companies, plus the payment of Hanley's back debts.

Hanley then stepped out and Dewey ran for governor.

In this case Hanley made the mistake of writing a letter setting forth the terms of the deal. It became the subject of a Senate investigation. In the case of Governor Knight's step-down from the gubernatorial race in California, Democratic investigators will have a hard time finding any letters.

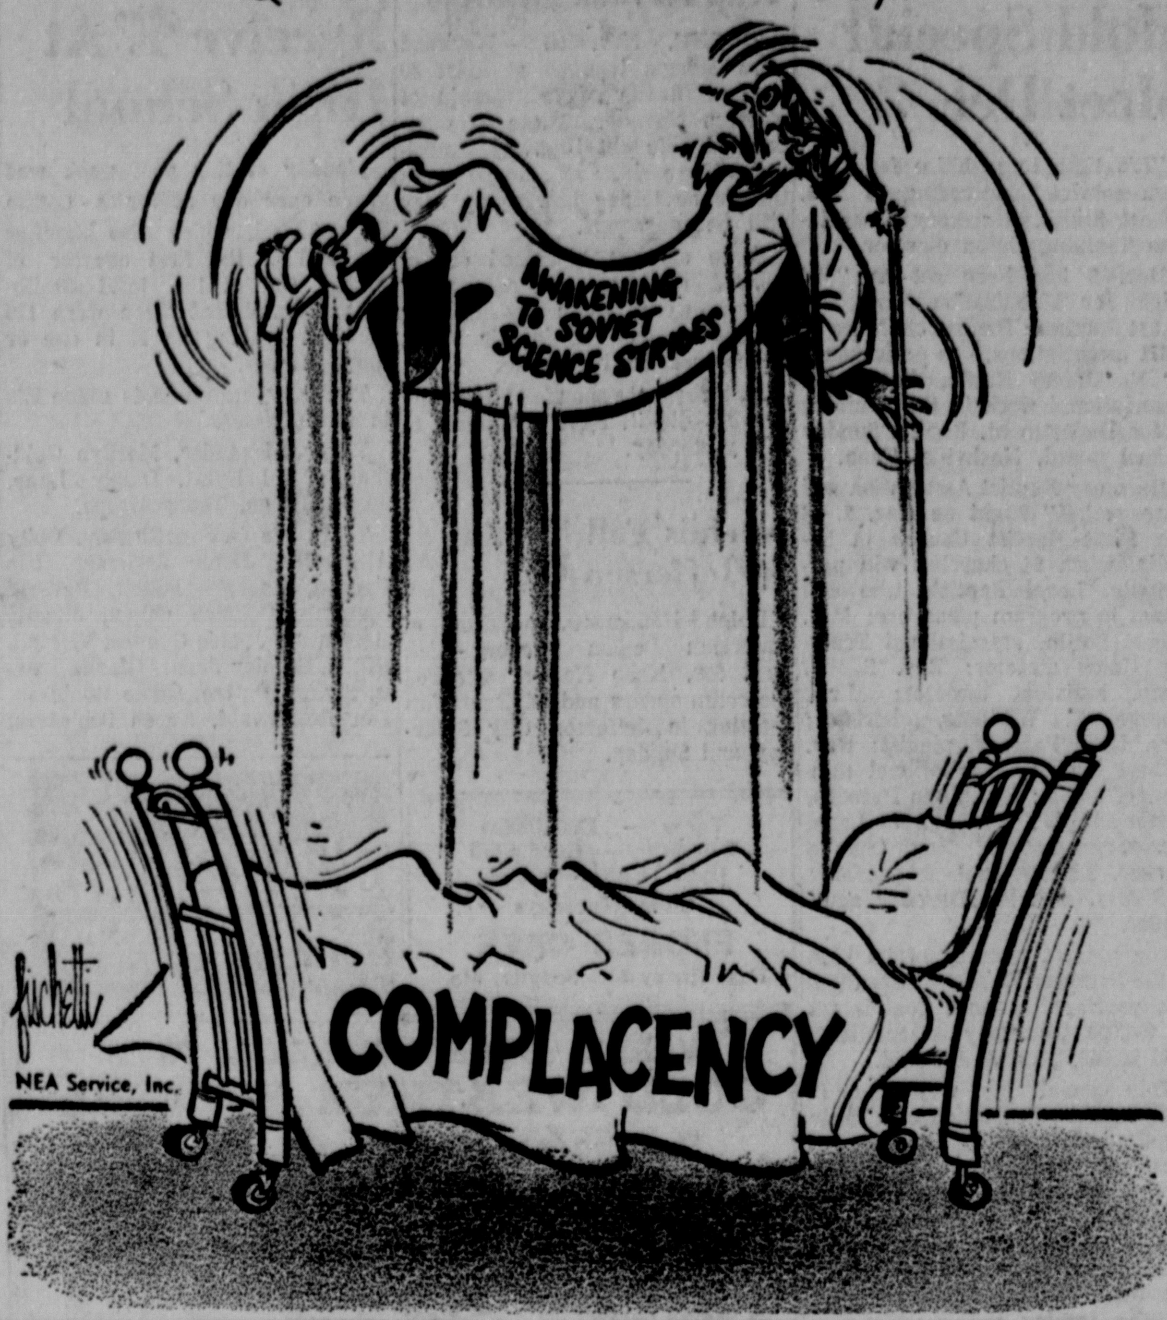

Lemons are picked before ripening and then stored until ripe.

The World Today

Past and Future of Communist Russia

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty years ago today Communists seized power in Russia. What's happened in that time? What lies ahead?

In 40 years the Russians have made astonishing progress in industry and science. The progress has been concentrated most notably on weapons, the atomic and H-bombs, jet planes, missiles and earth satellites.

That progress would have provided the Russian people with far higher living standards—if it had been devoted to peacetime goods. In short, a couple of generations of Russians have been used—while forced to do without the modern conveniences and luxuries of the West—to bring Russia abreast of the West industrially in a rush. It worked.

There is no visible discontent in Russia. Living standards can be expected to go up continually as industrial-scientific development is expanded to meet more of the people's needs.

In one spot—the political system—Russia is still immensely backward. A comparatively small group of self-appointed leaders—perhaps 10 million out of more than 200 million people—still rule it by force.

Red party control is a little more relaxed than in Stalin's day. In time perhaps it too will undergo a change and become more democratic, permitting wider participation in government for one of two reasons: either through evolutionary change or the demands and pressures of the people as they become increasingly more educated and questioning.

No government remains fixed and frozen forever. History belies that thought.

On one thing the Red bosses of 1917 were wrong: they thought then world revolution was just around the corner. Disappointed in that, but aggressively crusading, they set out to bring about what didn't happen by itself.

In 40 years—by force and never by persuasion or open and free elections—communism has grabbed all of Eastern Europe, all of China, half of Viet Nam, and North Korea. Its influence is spreading in Asia and the Middle East.

The peoples of the European satellites have shown vast discontent with their Russian masters. That does not mean communism will not spread without the use of Russian armies.

There are such weapons as infiltration, seizure from within, persuasion and example. The industrial and scientific progress of Russia under communism in 40 years is bound to be impressive.

At least it will impress peoples who, still living in feudal societies, want to leap in a hurry into the 20th century. For many of them, who never knew democracy, communism may seem a faster way of getting places than a democratic society operating under capitalism.

As the years pass, and Russians live better, they will probably move more toward capitalism. And the Western powers, to offset the gains of communism, may be forced to move more toward socialism.

1957 Idle Funds Profit To Hit $1 1/2 Millions

Missouri will make a profit of $1,500,000 this year from investments of idle funds, according to M. E. Morris, state treasurer.

Investment of the state's funds not needed immediately for operations started last January. It was authorized by a constitutional amendment approved by the people in the 1956 general election and regulated by a bill passed by the last General Assembly.

Morris said that by Sept. 1, the idle funds had brought in about $1,250,000 in interest. He believed another quarter of a million dollars profit would come from the interest before the end of the year.

Morris said the state currently has $62 million invested in U.S. government securities and $44,750,000 invested in time deposits in state banks. The rest of the state's funds is in three banks in checking deposits which draw no interest.

Morris said the funds invested in time deposits in Missouri banks by law may draw only one per cent interest. The amounts invested in government securities is paying up to 3 per cent interest.

The treasurer said he thought it probable that the next General Assembly might consider a change in the law to require state banks to pay a higher interest on the time deposits.

Morris noted that although Missouri banks now must pay for the privilege of state deposits, the competition is strong for the state's idle funds. He said that when money was plentiful several years ago, there were only 180 banks seeking state deposit of funds.

Uncle Sam Supports Big Medical, Health Programs

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty and Maurice G. Boehl
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sidestepping anything that smacks of "socialized medicine," Uncle Sam is doing a lot more in medical education, research, health and hospital construction than is generally realized.

The President's health recommendations have met only partial success in Congress but this does not mean that the amount of federal aid (of various kinds) is piddling.

During the last fiscal year, ending in June, 1957, federal agencies spent a total of $2,538,719,168 on medical and health programs, according to a survey made by the American Medical Association. The AMA, outstanding foe of government interference in medicine, does not attempt to evaluate the different programs but admits that "obviously many of them are necessary just to maintain this country's unsurpassed public health standards." Just in case, though, it states "Some probably could be questioned."

The Veterans' Administration spends the most. Largest single item in the VA budget is for patient care in the 173 hospitals it operates.

The care of members of the Armed Forces and their families is the next largest medical program Uncle Sam has. A brand new part of this is "Medicare" which allows dependents to see civilian doctors when base facilities are not available.

Most of the health programs now in force bear the name of Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala.) who shepherded, among others, the Hill-Burton Hospital Construction Bill through the Congress. Under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, this program allots to states on the basis of population and per capita income funds for financing, to date, approximately 132,096 hospital beds, 636 public health centers, 18 state health laboratories and approximately 100 nurses homes and training facilities. Also not necessarily bearing his name, Senator Hill has been a factor in the establishment of the seven National Institutes of Health, which conduct research and allot grants for research concerning cancer, the heart, mental health, arthritis, and metabolic diseases, neurological diseases and blindness, allergy and infectious diseases, and dental health.

HEW also operates hospitals and public health centers for the American Indians and natives of Alaska; for American seamen, Coast Guard and Public Health Service personnel and their dependents; Federal employees injured at work; leprosy patients and narcotics addicts. It administered the poliomyelitis vaccine program, supervises grants to states for local and state general public health activities, tuberculosis control, communicable disease control, sanitary engineering activities, venereal diseases, water pollution, foreign quarantine service.

Still more, under the Social Security Administration, which last year spent over $1.5 million, are funds for medical and health needs for persons on relief, children's health services, vocational rehabilitation and practical nurse training.

Eighteen other federal agencies sponsor or contribute to health and medical programs. Some have names which one would not usually associate with such endeavors. They include the Atomic Energy Commission, International Cooperation Administration, Department of State, Federal Civil Defense Administration, Federal Employees Health Program, National Science Foundation, Department of Labor, Panama Canal Zone, Treasury Department, Justice Department (for prison inmates), Federal Trade Commission, Department of Commerce, Civil Service Commission, President's Committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped, and Health Resources Advisory Committee.

Some of the Congressmen, who are against any form of federal medical aid, accept free service from doctors and their staffs on Capitol Hill, for which last year the federal government paid $12,145 for medical supplies and equipment. The Navy picked up the tab for the salaries of the physicians and four enlisted men who serve the members. Also the Congressmen can be hospitalized in either Walter Reed Army hospital or the big Naval hospital in nearby Bethesda.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Handwriting varies with the individual. Some people write with strong assurance. Some write with cramped fingers, while others write backhanded. Messages are transmitted in scribbled writing and in Spencerian script. Some letters are easily read. Others are deciphered with difficulty. A few cannot even be read by their authors.

If we are confused by the variations in the handwriting of people, we should probably be much more confounded by the differences in man's communications to God. It is true that we do not write our prayers to our Heavenly Father, but the things which we say and the ways we say them are often such that only God could unscramble them.

God can understand our prayers, but we cannot understand His answers until we clarify our thinking. We can then recognize His communications to us.

Smith-Cotton Tigers Win Conference Game by 34-6

Hold Mexico Scoreless 3 Quarters

Bryan Runs 66 Yards For 2nd Touchdown; Meet Kemper Friday

By Stan Jones and D. K. Scruton

Smith-Cotton moved closer to a cinch three-way tie in the Central Missouri Conference when they defeated the Mexico Bulldogs at Mexico Wednesday night, 34-6. One more team stands in the way of the Tigers, the Kemper Military Academy, Boonville.

What appeared a tight game started off with the Tigers scoring their first touchdown in the last minutes of the first quarter after an exchange of the ball several times. The Tigers took over on the Mexico 49-yard line and started a drive which carried the ball to the five-yard line, from where Marshall Bryan carried it over. Bryan's conversion was good and the Tigers led 7-0.

But the second quarter was a rough one, with neither team scoring, and the half ended with the slim margin of points favoring the Tigers.

In the second half, the third period opened with Mexico kicking off. Whitfield took the ball on his 18 and returned it to the Tigers 34. The sensational play of the game came on the next play when Bryan broke through the field of red and white Mexico Bulldogs and went the 66 yards for the second score for the Sedalians. Bryan's place kick was blocked for the extra point, but the Tigers led 13-0.

After the kickoff Mexico made three plays, punted and the Tigers took over on the Mexico 46-yard line. Two first downs and the ball was on the Mexico seven-yard line. Dick Woodsmall picked up six yards, then Bobby Garrison smashed through the line for the third Tiger touchdown. Bryan ran the ball and across the goal line for the extra point, the Tigers increasing their lead to 20 points.

The third quarter ended right after the touchdown.

Smith-Cotton opened the fourth stanza kicking off to Mexico, who took over on their own 21-yard line. However, they were forced to punt and the Sedalians got possession of the ball on their own 49. The Tigers lost five yards when the backfield was in motion and were penalized. Then Dennis Whitfield made a pass to Bryan good for 27 yards and the ball moved down to the Mexico 36-yard line. Richard Wertz picked up three yards, then Whitfield went around right end and dashed 33 yards for the touchdown. Bryan's kick was good for the extra point.

Gates kicked off and the Mexico boys took over on their own 44-yard line. Four first downs, one for five and one for 15 yards, moved the ball to the one-yard strip. The Bulldogs lost one yard, the Tigers holding for three downs, but on the fourth down Chick Walters, on a quarterback sneak, hit the line and went over for the lone touchdown for Mexico. This ended the scoring in the game.

The Tigers had the ball on Mexico's 30-yard line when the game ended, Smith-Cotton 34, Mexico 6.

Smith-Cotton will play at home on Friday night, Nov. 15, meeting the Kemper Military Academy in the final Central Missouri Conference game of the season.

Stransky Top Ground Gainer For 3rd Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Stransky, a leading candidate in the Big Eight Conference for All-America honors, will have an opportunity to fatten his individual record this week as Colorado meets Colorado State in a non-league game at Fort Collins.

One other non-conference game is on the schedule, with Oklahoma State playing Wyoming at Stillwater.

League games will send Oklahoma to Missouri, Nebraska to Iowa State and Kansas State to Kansas.

Stransky is the nation's top rusher for the third straight week with 764 yards and he ranks third nationally on total offense with 958 yards.

Oklahoma's Clendon Thomas is his closest competitor for rushing honors in the Big Eight with 443 yards.

Although he didn't score against Missouri in Colorado's 9-6 loss to the Tigers, Stransky maintained his scoring leadership with 57 points on 9 touchdowns and 3 conversions.

The Buffs and Colorado State have met 56 times with Colorado winning 42 and losing 13. Two games ended in a tie.

Other individual Big Eight leaders: Dwight Nichols of Iowa State with 32 completions out of 64 pass attempts for 440 yards; Boyd Dowler of Colorado with 16 receptions good for 219 yards; Bob Haas of Missouri who has averaged 42.4 yards on 16 punts, and Thomas of Oklahoma has averaged 26.2 yards on 6 punt returns.

While most of the Big Eight squads appeared to be in top physical condition, Iowa State and Nebraska still were plagued by a number of ailments.

Jim Lary, Cyclone wingback, is lost for the season as the result of a leg injury and end Chuck Lattig is on the doubtful list for Saturday because of a sore throat.

Among those on the doubtful list at Nebraska are halfback Doug Thomas, quarterback Harry Tolly, tackle Don Rhoda and guards Leroy Zentic and Dale Seimer.

Oklahoma State is among the leaders on both total defense and rushing defense. The Cowboys, No. 5 on total defense, have yielded an average of only 182 yards in 6 games.

The Oklahoma State rushing defense has allowed an average of 129 yards, good for the No. 10 spot. Oklahoma is the third Big Eight team listed among the defensive leaders. The Sooners have given up an average of 116.2 yards rushing in six games to hold down the No. 7 position in that department.

Georgia Tech leads in pass defense. The Bull Dogs have allowed only 35.5 yards per game while Missouri, No. 2 has been touched for 43.4 yards.

Football Honor Takes Back Seat to Birth Of New Son to Player

ATLANTA (AP) — Being selected national Lineman of the Week is only the second-best present Georgia Tech center Don Stephenson received this week.

Pretty Karen Stephenson presented Don with a husky son, Donald Keith, Tuesday and any other kind of honor naturally has to take a back seat.

Besides, being named Lineman of the Week for spectacular play against Duke is old stuff to Stephenson. He won the honor last year in Durham and repeated with his sterling play here Saturday when Tech upset the Blue Devils 13-0.

Stephenson called defensive signals and played a near-perfect game at his center and linebacker posts. His blocking—51 blocks on 62 assignments for an 82.3 percent—was termed fantastic by Coach Bobby Dodd. He played 51 minutes against the Blue Devils.

Even in a uniform with its bulky pads, Don doesn't look rugged enough or powerful enough to be able to take the fierce pounding the line play requires. But he is 6 feet 1, weighs 200 and possesses a pair of tremendous legs.

Stephenson made the All-American team last year. After a slow start, he's bidding for the first team this season.

The longest nine-inning game in 1957 in the National League lasted three hours and 34 minutes. The rivals were the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers in Brooklyn on July 21.

Auburn Tops Big College Defense List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defense, once junked as being too subtle for the average fan, suddenly has made a comeback in major college football on the unbeaten records of such national powers as Auburn and Iowa.

Auburn tops the list in total defense for the fourth consecutive week, Iowa, once tied, is No. 1 in rushing defense.

And every major unbeaten club in the nation is among the leaders in one defensive category or another—While less than half of them are up there in offense.

Only Texas A&M, the leader in this week's Associated Press poll, is missing from the undefeated powers that show up high in the defense statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletics Bureau.

Auburn, getting stingier each game, has permitted an average of just 136.7 yards a game in the six played to date. The only team to do better for the first six games of any season in the past nine years was the 1955 Auburn bunch, who permitted only 132 a game—and then were rapped from the unbeaten list with a 27-13 defeat by Tulane in game No. 7.

The Plainsmen also lead in holding down the opposing score, allowing only 14 points for a 2.3 average—lowest since 1947 when Georgia Tech permitted only seven points in its first six games.

Iowa tops rushing defense with a 66.2 yard average yield in six games.

Georgia Tech leads in pass defense. The Bull Dogs have allowed only 35.5 yards per game while Missouri, No. 2 has been touched for 43.4 yards.

Halimi Wins Bantamweight Championship

He Defeats Macias In Boxing, Slugging For a Clear Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A rugged little French-Algerian named Alphonse Halimi last night out-slugged and outboxed Raul Macias of Mexico for the undisputed world bantamweight championship.

A crowd of 20,000—at least 8,000 of them countrymen of the Mexican fighter—were on hand when the two little scrappers squared off under the dazzling ring candelabra at Wrigley Field.

The night was coolish, but the fighters set a torrid pace over the 15-round route.

As expected, Halimi, rock-hard onetime Algerian street fighter, tried to turn the nationally televised match into a slugfest.

Macias, renowned for his boxing deftness, played the Frenchman's game. In the early rounds, the little gamecocks battled head-to-head in bruising in-fighting.

"Box him, box him," urged Macias' manager, Pancho Rosaes.

"I can't jab him," said Macias, bleeding from the nose. "He's on top of me. I can't keep him away."

Nevertheless, Macias fought Halimi on fairly even terms. Both landed some dandy hooks to the body and head. But neither was shaken badly.

"In the sixth I realized I couldn't knock him out, so I knew I'd have to box him," Halimi said later.

Halimi switched from in-fighting to long range jabbing about the 10th round, and proceeded to beat the Mexican at his own game. He held a reach advantage of almost two inches and made the most of it, pulling ahead on all score cards in the last five rounds.

The split decision was greeted with lusty boos by the Mexican's constituents.

Referee Mushy Callahan cast his vote for Macias, 144 to 141, under California's 10-point system.

Judges Frankie Van and Dynamite Jackson decided the bout. Van carded 148-141, and Jackson 147-147 for Halimi, who had been recognized by the World Boxing Championship Committee and Boxing Union of Europe.

Macias had been the NBA world bantamweight titleholder.

Macias was guaranteed $30,000 and an undisclosed percentage of the gross gate of $209,884.

Declines Talk About Problems On West Coast

NEW YORK (AP)—Leslie O'Connor, president of the Pacific Coast League, was reluctant to discuss specific aims in fear of "muddying the waters" before today's special meeting with Commissioner Ford Frick to study realignment problems facing baseball's top minor league.

O'Connor, flying in from the West Coast, will tackle the problems arising from the Giants' and Dodgers' shift to San Francisco and Los Angeles in a conference with Frick, George Trautman, president of the National Assn. (governing body of the minors), and representatives of the two National League clubs.

O'Connor acknowledged that today's meeting was set up to discuss only realignment with no mention of damages to be paid the PCL by the Giants and Dodgers for invasion of its territory.

The PCL, however, has voted to consider the questions of realignment and compensation as a single package.

The fact that the amount of compensation is the big stumbling block in the situation was apparent from O'Connor's views on the cities which may be available to replace Los Angeles and San Francisco in the PCL.

"While the cities we have in mind already have baseball," he said, "no two of them by any means are the equal of Los Angeles and San Francisco."

That means the Giants and Dodgers, and perhaps the National League as a whole, will have to fatten the kitty to make up the difference in revenue the PCL can expect to suffer.

Group Fights Land Gift To Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A busy group of citizens armed with pencils and paper is causing the National League in general and the Los Angeles Dodgers in particular a lot of worry these days.

They're getting signatures on petitions calling for a vote of the people on the plan to turn 300 acres of city-owned land over to the Dodgers for a ball park. If they get enough, it could prove very embarrassing to Dodger President Walter O'Malley and the Los Angeles city officials who invited him here.

The move for a referendum started when the city council approved by a 10-4 vote an ordinance transferring the Chavez Ravine property to the Dodgers. Councilman John Holland, leader of the four-man opposition, vowed that the fight wasn't over, and so far, at least, he's making good on that promise.

A citizens committee to Save Chavez Ravine was formed to push the referendum. Holland is its guiding light, visiting the office every day and directing the strategy, which is simply to get 51,767 valid signatures on the petition.

Committee officials are reluctant to say how many signatures they have acquired, but say they will have the required number by next Thursday's deadline.

The city clerk's office, which will have the job of counting the signatures and checking their validity, estimates that at least 75,000 signatures will be needed to assure 51,767 good ones.

If there are enough names, the ordinance approving the Dodger deal is automatically held up until settled by a city-wide vote.

And if the matter is going to be put to a vote, the chances are it won't be until next June, since no municipal elections are scheduled before then and the cost of a special election would be high.

So there is a distinct possibility O'Malley will have to mark time until the middle of next summer before he can even start on his dream park. Which means his Dodgers may have to play two seasons in tiny Wrigley Field, which seats 22,000 fans and can't measure up as a major league park in any category.

The other National League owners will have to approve the use of Wrigley Field—and the prospect of traipsing across the country for two years to play before 22,000 people might not win their support.

There is talk the 100,000-seat Coliseum may be adapted to baseball, but it would be a makeshift operation at best.

Actor Tells Of Opening Night Jitters

By BOB THOMAS
NEW YORK (AP)—What happens to an actor on opening night of a Broadway show?

Take the case of Ricardo Montalban, who just opened in the calypso caper, "Jamaica." Some of his ordeal is described in his feelings the moment before he went on stage.

"You talk about a man's life flashing before his eyes as he is drowning—that is exactly how I felt. I thought of everything: my mother, my father, my boyhood, dreams I have had."

"I thought what would happen if the play was a flop, how I would have to take my wife and four children back to California. I wondered if my voice would hold up. Then I heard the overture and suddenly I was faced with that terrible moment of having to go on."

Ricardo's ordeal was made worse by a cold he had picked up during the tryout run in Boston. When he arrived at the Imperial theater at noon before opening night, his voice was hoarse. He did a run-through whispering his lines and talking his songs. Then he went home for a half-hour rest. He was back at the theater at 6:15.

Into his dressing room to offer congratulations. Instead of Sardi's, Ricardo went to a small party given by a dentist friend on Park Avenue and dropped in at the Waldorf celebration for the cast given by his co-star, Lena Horne. From the others, Ricardo learned that the reviews were generally good. Jamaica's slim plot was roundly knocked, but the Harold Arlen music and the jobs by Miss Horne and Ricardo were praised.

Prosecution Nears End In a Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The prosecution is nearing the end of its case against L. Ewing Scott, 61, former stockbroker who is on trial for the murder of his wife.

The will of Mrs. Evelyn T. Scott, 63, admitted as evidence yesterday, showed she left half her $600,000 estate to her husband and the rest in trust for her brother, E. Raymond Throsby.

Prosecutor J. Miller Leavy said the will helps prove the state's contention Scott murdered his wife to get full control of her estate. Scott insists his wife, who disappeared May 16, 1955, is still alive.

Actress Is Engaged

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Now it's official: Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay are engaged.

Hargitay, professional strong man, gave the blonde actress a 10-carat diamond ring shortly after she returned here yesterday from a personal appearance tour of Europe.

Both have been divorced and Miss Mansfield has a 7-year-old daughter.

Sedalia ABW Chapter Gets Honors at National Meeting

Sedalia Chapter, American Business Women's Association, received two national honors at the national convention held recently in Oklahoma City, Okla., the black and gold banner as a banner chapter for accomplishing all requirements for the standard of achievement and a certificate of the standard of achievement for praiseworthy accomplishments.

These two citations were displayed at the fifth anniversary dinner of the Sedalia Chapter held Tuesday night at Bothwell Hotel by the president, Mrs. J. H. Rabourn, who with Miss Margaret Bohon, attended the convention in Oklahoma City and received the awards for her chapter. Mrs. Rabourn also received a national citation as being selected as the woman of the year by her chapter.

The meeting opened with invocation by Mrs. Carolyn Greer.

Speaker of the evening was Miss Jane Younger, librarian of the Boonslick Regional Library, who talked on the work of librarians.

November, said Miss Younger, is "Know Your Library Month," and she said that she felt people should know more of the services offered by a library. It isn't just reading books, she pointed out, but the library has books that are of great value in practically any kind of work and hobby. She told the group that through the regional library farmers who said they didn't have time to read a book have found that they can find through books they need for fences and other information to help them on the farm. There are answers to everybody's particular needs, she said, for hobbies of all kinds, the know-how in things they would like to do and then books for the pure joy of reading.

A librarian, said Miss Younger, first gets a college degree and then goes on to get a library degree in whatever type she plans to be. It may be children's work, it may be a school librarian in elementary, high school or college, it may be music and fine arts or it may be a public librarian.

In smaller libraries, she said, a librarian does practically everything. She supervises, sets up routines, buys equipment and books, works out a budget and numerous other things. There are two professional librarians in the Boonslick Library, she said, but there are a number of very qualified workers there, too.

There are three kinds of libraries, the municipal library, like the Sedalia public library, the county library and the regional library, which is when two or more counties go together as Pettis and Cooper counties have done for the Boonslick library. People went to the poles and voted for this regional library, she said, one mill on the dollar.

A library is judged, Miss Younger explained, on the reception given at the door and that is the reason librarians try to hire the very best type of receptionists. It is sometimes difficult to do. The library of today is very different, wide seats and narrow seats to fit the fat and the thin. There were no electric lights, the light came through the dome in the day and at night candles were used. The pipe organ cost $36,000.

The National American Business Women's Association, Mrs. Rabourn said, has 10,000 members and is only eight years old, and the convention was attended by 485 members. A new set of achievements have been set up by the organization, she said, and she felt that, as always, the Sedalia Chapter would be able to come home with national citations.

Mrs. Rabourn also reported on a trip taken by eight members of the Sedalia Chapter to Jefferson City to attend a meeting of the chapter there.

The club voted to participate in the "Know Your America Week" parade which will be held Monday, Nov. 25, starting at 4 p.m. at Seventh and Ohio.

It was also decided to let the executive committee make plans for an entry in the Christmas parade.

The music part of the program was presented by Mrs. Emmett

Fairfax, who sang: "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "I Love Life" with Mrs. John Rundlett as accompanist.

Mrs. Doris Bellamy was introduced as a guest.

Corsages were presented to Miss Margaret Bohon and Mrs. Rabourn for perfect attendance during the past year and to Miss Nellie White who has missed only one meeting in the past five years. Miss Bohon also had the record of missing only one meeting in five years. Miss Jessie White was also given a corsage for missing only two meetings in five years.

A three-tier birthday cake in the association colors, encircled with gold chrysanthemums, formed the centerpiece on the speaker's table and white lighted candles were at either side.

The benediction was by Mrs. Ra-

CANDIDATE—Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, attorney general of California, announced in Los Angeles that he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of the state. On the Republican side, Sen. William Knowland has already declared himself in the race against incumbent Gov. Goodwin Knight for the 1958 GOP nomination.

Sedalians Attend Jefferson City Credit Meeting

Francis J. Mergen, local Production Credit Association fieldman reported that Pettis County was well represented at the 24th annual stockholders' meeting in Jefferson City, Nov. 2. Miller Hern, of Rocheport, presided over the meeting attended by approximately 450 members, families and guests.

T. R. McGuire, public relations consultant of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis, spoke to the group on "Credit Needs in a Changing Agriculture." He stressed the greater demands for credit in agriculture due to the large capital investment per worker and the relatively low return on capital when compared to other types of industry.

Mrs. John Boessen, housewife and mother of Loose Creek spoke on "What Production Credit Has Meant to Me and to My Family." Her remarks were based on actual experiences in which she and her family had benefited from the services of their PCA.

The business report for last year and future plans were presented in the form of a panel composed of S. T. Cooley, Centralia, president; Miller Hern, Rocheport, vice-president; Al V. Horner, Jefferson City; Norman Gibson, Sedalia; Frank L. Smith, McCredie; and George C. Hill, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Highlights of their report were that loan volume had reached a new high of $3,276,481, and that 1,025 loans for a total of $6,500,000 were made last year.

George C. Hill, 99 E. Circle, Jefferson City, was awarded a pin in recognition of 20 years of service. Those awarded 10 year pins were: Miller Hern, Rocheport; Marie Luebering, St. Thomas; and Francis J. Mergen, Sedalia.

Show Decrease From 1956 Road Deaths

With the advent of November we naturally begin thinking of Thanksgiving.

"The decrease of over 100 deaths in the traffic fatality record in Missouri for the first 10 months of 1957 compared to same period in 1956 is ample reason for at least that many people to be thankful," said Highway Patrol superintendent, Col. Hugh H. Waggoner.

"On the whole the traffic fatality picture for this year is a big improvement over that of last year when the all time high in traffic deaths was recorded, but we look forward to the month of November with some foreboding," he said.

According to traffic fatality records of previous years, November is invariably a deadly month on our streets and highways. One hundred and twenty five people were killed last year in November.

A study of the 1,632 traffic accidents that were investigated by the Highway Patrol in November 1956, shows that 1,458 occurred on dry roads, 1,476 were outside of congested areas, and 1,211 happened on straight sections of highways.

In only two of the accidents investigated were there any evidence of defective road conditions.

Fifty one of the deaths in the tragic toll for one month occurred for the simple reason that the driver lost control and, ran off the road with no other vehicle being involved in the mishap.

"A breakdown of these accident reports reveal," Col. Waggoner said, "that in a vast majority of the accidents investigated, the things we usually associate with traffic hazards, hills and curves, congestion, defective roads and weather conditions were totally absent. Therefore we must assume the responsibility for the accidents and the 125 deaths lie with the drivers."

"The average of 10 lives saved each month in 1957 is evidence that caution on the road will save lives. There is no valid reason this downward trend in traffic deaths should not continue," he said.

LaMonte PTA Program Honors 4-H Members

The LaMonte PTA met Oct. 21st, in the school auditorium with the president, Mrs. Steinkuhler, presiding.

Mrs. Breen led the group in singing and the devotional was given by Dorothy Ritchey and a story was told by Randy Stone.

The program was presented honoring the 4-H Clubs and Mrs. Cole presented a 4-H pin to all the members that had completed their projects. The guest speaker was Owen Fox, Pettis County associate agent.

The business meeting was held and followed by a social session at which time doughnuts and cider were served.

According to an Army cookbook, if rice pudding were made from the contents of the warehouse, there would be enough to serve every man, woman and child in North America, Africa, Australia and half of Europe. Kruzewski's comment on the Texas-size pudding, "That's a lot of raisins in any cook's nightmare."

Leader of National Church Group Has Time for Others

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—A busy Washington church worker is shopping for an appointment book as big as the Encyclopedia Britannica.

As head of a woman's club with about 30 million members, Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel really needs one. She's already booked solid for a good part of the next two years.

Being national chairman of the United Church Women, the women's branch of the National Council of Churches, is what takes up most of her time. Mrs. Wedel accepts invitations months in advance to speak to the many state groups which make up the nationwide organization. She also makes it a point to personally visit the other chapters to get a firsthand look at their work.

Her tireless efforts in church work have even extended beyond the boundaries of the United States. As a member of the World Council of Churches, the Northwestern University graduate has spoken in many European countries. And she is already planning to attend a WOC meeting in Ceylon in 1960.

But for the next several months she has enough business scheduled in the States to keep a whole office staff working overtime. In addition to her church activities, she spends several hours each week doing Red Cross, juvenile and social welfare work.

Knowing how to put every spare minute to good use is largely responsible for Mrs. Wedel being able to keep up with her streamlined schedule. Recently she was able to get her Ph.D. in psychology by writing her thesis on trains and airplanes and learning German during a stint at jury duty.

She has also found time to raise two stepchildren, both of whom are now married. And her husband, the Rev. Theodore O. Wedel, canon of Washington Cathedral, has never been heard to complain about her cooking.

In fact, her talents in the kitchen are the only ones she is the least bit forward about. "I consider myself a very good cook," she's always ready to exclaim. "I pride myself on it."

Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel

Georgia Clark Steps Down From US Treasurer to Clerk

RICHLAND, Kan. — Georgia Neese Clark Gray, who used to be responsible for 27 billion dollars as the first woman U.S. treasurer, now may be found cutting meat or counting money in her combination general store and bank in this little community of 250 people.

Mrs. Gray—politician, businesswoman, farm operator and former actress—signed her name on all bills issued by the U.S. government during the second Truman administration, 1949 to 1953. But she says life in this little crossroads, with a town water pump and old-fashioned wooden canopies over the sidewalks, can be more challenging than in the nation's capital.

You're most likely to find Mrs. Gray, a dynamic personality in her late 50s with nary a gray hair, sitting at a small wooden desk, with a typewriter at one side, behind the "cages" of the bank, located at the rear of her well-stocked general store. She and her 75,000 bushel capacity grain elevator, an insurance agency and 1,800 acres of nearby farm land.

She's just as adept at cutting up a roast at the meat counter or weighing a load of wheat at the elevator as she is cashing a check or listening sympathetically to a straw-hatted farmer asking for an extension on his cattle loan.

As treasurer, Mrs. Gray was the nation's No. 1 cashier—collecting and disbursing billions of dollars in government funds.

"Most of the work of treasurer is done by rote," Mrs. Gray says. "You don't make any policy decisions. But operating these small town businesses means making decisions, taking risks and always being confronted with the human element."

"You know these people in a small town. You know their background. They know yours. Your emotions often get tied up and you sometimes make a deal that's not good business. But I'm a gambler on people. It's surprising how few people let you down."

She wasn't worried when she made the switch from Richland to Washington because—"If you can succeed in a little town you don't have to worry about succeeding in a city."

Did she find it hard to make the readjustment from life in Washington back to Richland?

"No. I never got Potomac fever. Life in Washington means "glamor, prestige and being in on things. You feel you are a part of government. In Richland you are a vital part of the community and state."

Mrs. Gray has been Democratic national committeewoman for Kansas since 1936. She has never sought elective office but during hot campaigns you'll often find her making fiery political speeches with the best of them.

"My main satisfaction in politics is helping people, whether they are Democrats or Republicans," Mrs. Gray says. She wields con-

Nowadays Scrapple Is Very Different

MEAT MUSH: Sausage scrapple is a far cry from the Pennsylvania Dutch original but, served with syrup and baked apples, it draws few complaints.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Scrapple became a delicious part of the American cuisine when, years ago, Pennsylvania Dutch farmers first started putting this hearty dish together at butchering time.

Scraps of meat, liver and other internal organs were cooked in water—so as to utilize them—and then both broth and meat were combined with buckwheat flour plus cornmeal to make a sage-seasoned mixture. The meat-enriched mush was turned into a bread pan and chilled, then unmolded and sliced thin; finally it was fried until lightly browned and crisp.

Nowadays, although cornmeal scrapple is available in many food markets, some homemakers make versions of it in their own kitchens. This recipe is a far cry from the original, but we think it's attractive and delicious. Some Sunday morning serve crisp slices of this scrapple with maple syrup, baked apples and good hot coffee—and you'll probably have no complaints!

You'll notice that in this recipe less water is used to cook the cornmeal than in a regular "breakfast mush" recipe. There's a reason for this. Although Miss Fannie Farmer did not see fit to include a recipe for scrapple in the first edition of her famous cook book, she does say, "Where mushes are cooked to fry, use less water in steaming." That succinct advice was given in the first (1896) edition of The Boston Cooking-School Cook Book but it still holds good today!

SAUSAGE SCRAPPLE

Ingredients: 1 pound pork sausage links, 4 cups water, 1½ cups yellow cornmeal, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups cold water.

Method: Pan-fry pork sausage links, in 10 to 12-inch skillet, according to package directions. In a 3-quart kettle, heat 4 cups water to boiling. Stir cornmeal, salt and 2 cups cold water together until smooth; slowly pour into boiling water, stirring constantly. Stirring often, cook until thickened. Cover; continue cooking over low heat for 10 minutes or until very thick, stirring occasionally. Turn about 1½ cups of the mush into a loaf pan (about 5 by 9 by 3 inches). Arrange half of the cooked sausage links lengthwise over mush. Turn another 1½ cups of the mush over the sausage.

Repeat sausage layer and pour remainder of mush over top. Chill To serve, cut into ½-inch slices. Fry on lightly greased griddle or skillet until golden brown. Serve with maple syrup. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Firedog

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A Lincoln woman awoke from a nap to find her boxer puppy running around the house with a flaming rug in its mouth.

Mrs. J. R. Ashleman said she had put the rug on the kitchen stove to dry. She vainly tried to catch the dog, then telephoned the fire department. Service was fast because a fire truck happened to be right across the street on an inspection mission. Rug and floor were damaged by the flames.

Mrs. Ashleman wasn't sure whether the dog was trying to be a hero or an arsonist.

Preparing brussels sprouts? Tear off any outer wilted leaves and cut a thin slice from the bottom of each stem. Then make a criss-cross cut in each stem with a small sharp knife; this gashing is said to shorten cooking time.

Good flavor change: add a tablespoon of grated orange rind to a two-egg cake made with two cups of flour.

Pictures and Frames

Twenty-seven Extension Clubs were represented by 40 members Thursday, Oct. 31, at Oak Grove Community Hall, for a picture framing lesson given by Miss Alice Mae Alexander, home management specialist from the University of Missouri.

Miss Alexander said a picture is like a good friend and it will say more than 10,000 words. Pictures appeal to individuals through their story, beauty of line, and quality of color or through their pattern. In selecting a picture it is well to consider the wall space it is to occupy and the general color scheme of the other furnishings in the room. If there is much design and color in the room very few pictures should be used. When the background is lacking in color the pictures may introduce color and interest.

All pictures in one room should have a relationship in texture, subject matter, scale and color. It is more pleasing to have some variety in the size of pictures in a room without any of them being out of scale. One picture should dominate in size and beauty and should have the place of honor in the room.

Often grouping of pictures will fit a wall space better. For this purpose companion pictures should be made. That is, pictures having a reasonable relationship in subject.

Framing Pictures

The purpose of a frame is to set off and give a finish to the picture. It should increase its effectiveness and help bring out its beauty of color and composition. The frame should never be the most outstanding part of the picture. Frames of simple design and soft tones enhance the beauty of a picture. The size and width of the molding should be in proportion to the size of the picture and in harmony with the composition. If the picture is mostly in warm colors such as yellow, red and brown, its frame should be of a warm color or gilded. While pictures having cool colors such as blue, gray or white, the frame should be of a cool color or may be silver.

Hanging Pictures

Pictures should be hung at eye level. A picture hung above an article of furniture should be related to it in scale. For example, a large picture may be hung above a divan or mantel. If only smaller pictures are to be used they should be hung in groups, all the pictures in a group should be related in color and subject. The space between should be less than the width of the pictures themselves.

Pictures should be hung as flat as possible. It is best to hang most pictures with no wire showing. If it is necessary to hang a picture from the molding, it is well to use two hooks, one on each end of a long wire passing across the back of the picture. In this way, the unattractive triangle caused by one hook may be avoided. The upper or lower line of all important pictures in a room should be on a level, to avoid a jagged line around the room.

It is a good plan to change pictures from time to time, enjoying a few and replacing them with others which may be put away for a while. Family portraits are best in one's bedroom.

All picture arrangements might be judged by the following questions.

- Is each picture in the room there because it helps to beautify the space?
- Are pictures hung low enough so they are seen as part of the furniture?
- Are they hung at the same level, so they do not form a jagged line?

Penetrating Wood Seal

Penetrating seal is an excellent finish for furniture. It is the only floor finish recommended by the Hardwood Flooring Association. It is easy to apply and dries quickly. It is highly resistant to moisture and has a pleasing soft gloss. Low gloss seal penetrates into the wood and leaves no film on the surface. Since there is no surface film it resists scratches and abrasion. Seal should be applied only to bare wood or over a previous coat of seal or oil stain as it will not penetrate into the wood if there is any other finish on the surface.

High gloss seal with a varnish base is also available. It is less penetrating than low gloss types and has some surface film. It gives good protection to soft woods but is also less resistant to scratches and abrasions than the low gloss seal that does not have a surface film. Low gloss types are the preferred for hardwoods. High gloss seals give somewhat more protection to soft woods.

A worn spot on penetrating seal can be matched with more seal without having to remove the old finish. To do this, remove all wax or polish from the area, buff with steel wool and apply the new seal.

School Closed At Syracuse Due to Flu

By Mrs. B. A. Bridges
SYRACUSE — Due to the flu epidemic schools in this vicinity were closed Oct. 30 until Nov. 11. There was no church Sunday because the pastor, Rev. Bob Potter, and his family were ill with the flu. Only 60 were in attendance at Sunday School. Several other activities have been postponed because of the illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Mara Keovil Jr. and Katie of Mesa, Calif., have returned home after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Keovil. Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Hubbard, Versailles and Mrs. M. T. Keovil accompanied them to Kansas City, where they boarded a plane for California.

Mrs. Freda Stroup visited Saturday with her son, CWO and Mrs. Vernon Whittle and children, Versailles. Clarinda Jo and Patti accompanied her home that night and Mr. and Mrs. Whittle and Timothy spent Sunday with her. The girls accompanied their parents home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Brubaker accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Cordy attended open house Sunday afternoon at the historic Ravenswood Home near Bellair.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Klein and daughter, Jerri Lynn, had as guests Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Joyal, St. Louis. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wybrant, Climax Springs, Janette, Barbara and Johnny Bill Gander, Boonville.

Alvin Lee Petre, who left Wednesday for the Navy is receiving his boot training in San Diego, Calif. Jackie Petre, Springfield, who accompanied his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hatfield home for a visit Monday now has the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Perrin Palmer and family, Tulsa, Okla., visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Palmer. Additional dinner guests Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmer and children.

Mrs. E. M. Wear, Sedalia, recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Ames Oehrke and son.

Mrs. Ray Chapman visited several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Byrnes and daughter, Wichita, Kan.

Hold Hallowe'en Party At Veterans Hospital

At a meeting of the VAVS in Excelsior Springs last Sunday, a Hallowe'en party was planned for the Veterans Hospital there. Those on the committee from here who attended the meeting were:

Mrs. Pump, Mrs. C. B. Brownfield and Mrs. Ethel Reynolds, of Sedalia, attended the party on Thursday night and assisted in entertainment of hospitalized veterans. The hall was beautifully decorated with the Hallowe'en colors; prizes for costumes were awarded and the members from Sedalia and a committee from the Circle at Independence, assisted the Royal Circle VAVS, Chairman of the Ladybugs, in serving cider and doughnuts.

SWEET CAKE: Almond cake is for those who enjoy their cake with substance.

American Almond Cake Has Substance

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

What sort of cake eater are you? Do you enjoy the fluffy light-as-a-feather variety? Or do you like cakes that may even be a little on the heavy side?

If you are for cakes with substance, you'll probably enjoy this recipe. Although as American as can be—its base is ready-to-eat crisp rice cereal—it reminds us of European confections such as honey cake.

We like this Almond Cake served warm with a fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream. If there's any leftover, cut it into small diamonds or finger shapes and store in a tightly covered container; serve the next day because it doesn't keep well any longer than that.

ALMOND CAKE

Ingredients: 3 cups oven-toasted ready-to-eat rice cereal, 4 eggs (separated), 1 1/4 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 pound (1/2 cup) butter or margarine (melted), 1/4 cup light cream, 3/4 cup finely ground or rotary-grated blanched almonds, fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream.

Method: Crush the rice cereal into extremely fine crumbs. With a rotary beater (hand or electric), beat the egg yolks until they begin to get thick and are lemon-colored; gradually beat in the sugar, then vanilla. Fold in slightly cooled melted butter, cream, rice cereal crumbs and almonds. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into crumb mixture. Turn into buttered baking pan—an aluminum pan that is about 9 by 12 by 2 inches or a heat-resistant glass pan whose inside dimensions are 11 1/2 by 7 1/2 by 1 1/4 inches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) or 7 about 40 minutes or until edges of cake draw away from sides of pan. Place pan on rack to cool a little; cut in squares and serve warm with fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream. Makes 12 servings.

LIGHTNING RESPONSE—The detonation of a depth charge in a remote area of Chesapeake Bay caused lightning from a low cloud to discharge into the 300-foot waterspout heaved upward by the explosion. The charge had been placed underwater beneath a cloudless sky, explained the Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring, Md., but overcast had built up two hours later when the explosion took place. One of three consecutive bolts that struck the spot was caught in this shot by a high-speed camera.

Drop Cookies Are Fine For Parties

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Parties for youngsters needn't be a chore for mothers if they let school-age girls and boys in on the planning and encourage them to do some of the preparation. Kids love activity and they'll get a big thrill out of helping.

For an afternoon birthday party, hot cocoa and sandwiches, ice cream plus the birthday cake and cookies will be a spread. If you choose a simple drop-cookie recipe such as this one, your Junior Miss—with a slight assist—can bake them. This recipe recommends itself because it makes four different sorts of cookies so party guests can take their choice.

FOUR-WAY COOKIES
Ingredients: For the basic dough—4 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup golden shortening, 2 cups light brown sugar (firmly packed), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk; flavor extras listed under variations.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, cream of tartar and salt several times. Cream shortening, brown sugar and vanilla; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Stir the sifted dry ingredients into the creamed mixture, alternately with the milk, until smooth. Pack dough down in bowl with a spatula so top is flat and even. Mark off into four parts with a knife. With a large spoon, put three of the parts into separate mixing bowls. Follow directions under Variations for adding to each of these batches of dough. Then drop cookies from a teaspoon with the help of a rubber spatula, onto greased baking sheet; leave a couple of inches space between each cookie. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned and baked through. Remove to wire rack with a spatula to cool; store in tightly covered container. Makes 6 to 8 dozen (2 inches in diameter cookies).

FOUR-WAY COOKIE VARIATIONS

Spice Cookies: To first part of cookie dough, stir in thoroughly 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg and ½ teaspoon ginger.

Fruit Nut Cookies: To second part of cookie dough, stir in well

Sedalia Girl Heads Scholastic Fraternity Visit at Hughesville

Miss Maurine Hoffman of Sedalia has been elected chapter president of Kappa Tau Alpha,

1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans and ½ cup chopped pitted dates.

Chocolate Almond Cookies: To third part of cookie dough, stir in thoroughly 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces and ½ cup chopped blanched almonds.

Cherry Coconut Cookies: To fourth part of cookie dough, stir in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¾ cup well-drained chopped maraschino cherries, ½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans and 1 cup flaked coconut (lightly packed).

scholastic fraternity in the University of Missouri School of Journalism. Miss Hoffman is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, 1000 South Vermont.

The chapter traditionally names the active member with the highest scholastic ranking to serve as president.

Among those elected to membership is one faculty member, Miss Maude Freeland.

Initiation will be conducted Nov. 13 by Dr. Frank Luther Mott, dean emeritus of the school of journalism. The chapter is named for him.
